9PM-12PM- Howard Yepson & R. J. Tomaine and I did battle over the C.H.C.H. 1982-1983 tape. We met at Mr. Ponnell's. Very maddening session; R.J. and HAY were of absolutely no help and that made me very angry. They refused to even try to solve the problem-- possibly because they don't have any idea how to. Finally, HAY took the entire bundle of materials & said he would have his son-in-law look at the matter; later in the day, Hank Loftus called and said that his father & uncle would take a look at the problem.

In the afternoon I cut down shrubs and cleaned up out in the back here; I also moved the pile of lumber & branches from behind the building into a gully farther away-- that made me feel much better. The rear of the building is now very tidy. I put the remaining shingles in the basement & prepared a box full of metal garbage for the next Wetsak pick up. I can hardly wait for the Buberniak family's arrival here to cut wood-- we will cut down a good many of the trees out back so that more sun strikes the building-- winter & summer. Following my aggressive outside cleaning, I went down to the Tinker Creek and washed all of my work clothes & started over. I brought them up and hung them on a clothes line which I put up out back. There was a wonderful breeze, and even my corduroy work pants were dried completely in an hour or two. That gave me a good deal of pleasure, of course.

at about 6 PM, I went down to the Golf Course and borrowed HARP's typewriter and also the two recent issues of "U.S. News and World Report" in which there was information on schools. It all seemed very relevant, given my proposed re-entry into the teaching arena.
